STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This plain house was built, probably by Joseph Street, who built the houses on either side of it, sometime around the turn of the century. There is nothing distinctive about it. This style and the smaller, shot-gun style are the two most common types of workingman's housing in Town, particularly in the black section. This one is to be acquired by the Town for demolition. A low income housing development is planned to occupy this site and the sites on either side.
